CONTENTS

ETA Association & Working Committees 2012 ................................................................. ii
Editorial by Mel Dixon ........................................................................................................... 1
The Writing of a Novel by Alex Miller .................................................................................. 2
Try This – Defining a metaphor .......................................................................................... 10
Difficult Permissions: The value of engaging with controversial issues via social media in middle-school English classrooms by Cameron Hindrum ............................................ 11
The Writer’s Creativity: Teaching creative writing by Associate Professor Debra Adelaide ................................................................................................................................. 17
Try This – Worksheet: Shakespeare and Power .................................................................. 20
Ten Years After: Some thoughts on the revised September 11: Bearing Witness to History by Derek Peat ............................................................................................................. 21
Moral Dilemmas by Aaron Dewhurst .................................................................................... 27
Rites of Passage: Coming of Age in Year 10 English by John Acutt .................................... 35
The Dynamic Nature of Module C: A reconfigured understanding of the Smithsonian September 11 website by Bronwyn Taylor ..................................................................................... 46
Jamming with Dead Poets: Teaching Romantic and Victorian poetry through music journalism by Joanna Gardiner and Virginia Ayliffe ........................................................................... 50
The Crucible: Living the injustice by Deanne Seigle-Buyat ................................................ 57
Try This – The Lebow Formula by Lori Lebow ...................................................................... 63
Book Reviews by Gersha Shteyman ...................................................................................... 64
ETA Branches ......................................................................................................................... 67
Contributions .......................................................................................................................... 68

mETaphor, Issue 4, 2012
Editor: Mel Dixon
Assistant Editor and Reviews: Gersha Shteyman
Design and layout: Jill Sillar, PTC NSW

None of the opinions expressed in mETaphor reflects the views of the English Teachers’ Association of New South Wales. ETA aims to publish a diverse range of opinions on issues of concern to English teachers.

Cover: Author Alex Miller. Photography by Edwina Hollick